

Instructor: Date:

Learner: Regional Branch:

Program: Center:

CONTENT

- Let's Start! • Let's Explore! • Let's Practice! • Extension Activity • Target Words • Learning Points

Let's Start!

Writing Spot: Time for some self-analysis.

Learning Outcome

Understand detailed descriptions of real or imaginary events and experiences in present, past or future and in spoken or written texts.

Ask your partner:

- What are your goals in the next three years?
- What do you need to do to accomplish them?

Can Do Statements

- I can write a Mission Statement.
- I can write about plans, hopes and expectations for the future.
- I can write about what I will be doing or what I will have done.

Let's Explore!

Louis needs to write a mission statement for his college application. Will he be able to sway *the dean of the university?

* "To sway" means to control or influence someone.

Instructions: Read the text aloud.

I need to include a mission statement in my college application. What motivates me? Well...here goes...

It is my mission to graduate with honors from Northwestern University with a Bachelor's Degree in Business. Firstly, as a hard-working, dedicated and disciplined student, I will commit myself to excellence, and never settle for anything less than my best work. Starting from day one, I will be exercising the virtues of honesty and integrity in all my endeavors and will be thinking about making my future goals a reality. From the outset, I will be focussing on academics while developing friendships both in the classroom and during extracurricular activities. However, I believe that strong academic results are only part of becoming a successful global citizen. If a person in authority explains their viewpoint, I will respect their position. Similarly, when the time comes, I will demonstrate that authority when necessary and expect the same in return. When difficult situations arise, I will always maintain a positive attitude towards my work and those around me that need encouragement.

Also, instead of taking for granted those who have helped me get to this point in my life, I will give back to my friends, family and community. Moreover, I'm also looking forward to being the kind of student who contributes not only to the growth of the institution, but also to the growth of under-privileged members of society. Furthermore, I will always be held accountable for my words and actions. If my word means nothing, then I will never become the man I wish to be. An institution such as Northwestern, which is willing to fuel my ambitions and desire for success is the kind of institution I want to belong to. Finally, I believe that if I work hard and believe in myself, the world will open its doors.

Let's Practice!

Louis is considering his future aspirations and views on the world.

Instructions: Organize the mystery sentence. Write the sentences correctly.

1. their viewpoint, / authority explains / If a / respect their / I will / person in / position.

2. nothing, / man I / then I / If my / become the / be. / word means / will never / wish to

3. Finally, / hard and / the world / believe in / that if / I believe / I work / myself, / will open / its doors.

4. can't do / the confidence / you will / your life. / If you / something, / to move / think you / never have / forward in

Let's Practice!

Louis writes about what he plans to do.

Instructions: Use the options from the Word Bank to correctly complete the sentences. Read the sentences aloud. Check your pronunciation with your instructor.

Word Bank

maintain / be exercising / start, I / extracurricular / be focusing / encouragement / Starting / thinking about / arise, I / virtues

1. _____ from day one, I will _____ the
_____ of honesty and integrity in all my endeavors.
2. From the _____ will be _____ making my future goals a reality.
3. From the outset, I will _____ on academics while developing friendships both in the classroom and during _____ activities.
4. When difficult situations _____ will always _____ a positive attitude towards my work and those around me that need _____.

Extension Activity

Time to write a mission statement for someone else.

Instructions: Complete the following steps. Fill in the Self-Assessment.

- Interview a family member or friend who plans to study at college in the future.
- Ask them a number of questions related to their goals and plans in the next 3-5 years. What do they value or consider important?
- Use linking words to sequence your ideas.
- Proofread the mission statement.
- Read the mission statement aloud to a partner.

Self-Assessment

Yes

No

I interview a family member or friend about their goals and plans for the future.

☐ ☐

I write a mission statement after completing an interview.

☐ ☐

I use linking words to organize my writing.

☐ ☐

Target Words

- disciplined (adjective): an activity that is done regularly as a way of training yourself to do something or to improve your behavior
e.g. I am a hard-working, dedicated and disciplined student.
- endeavor (noun): a serious effort or attempt e.g. I will be exercising the virtues of honesty and integrity in all my endeavors.
- outset (noun): the start or beginning of something e.g. From the outset, I will be focusing on academics while developing friendships.
- global citizen (expression): a person who thinks of humankind as one e.g. I believe that strong academic results are only part of becoming a successful global citizen.
- authority (noun): the power to give orders or make decisions
e.g. I will demonstrate that authority when necessary and expect the same in return.
- accountable (adjective): required to be responsible for something e.g. I will always be held accountable for my words and actions.
- under-privileged (adjective): having less money and education than other people e.g. I'm also looking forward to being the kind of student who contributes to the growth of under-privileged members of society.
- virtue (noun): morally good behavior or character
e.g. His friends see him as a man of virtue.

Learning Points

Writing a Mission Statement

When you write a mission statement, you can use the Future Conditional, Future Continuous tense and sequencing connectors.

If Clauses for Future

The Future Conditional describes what you think you will do in a specific situation in the future. If clauses are used to describe or forecast a likely result.

Example:

If my word means nothing, then I will never become the man I wish to be.

Future Continuous Tense

You use the Future Continuous tense to talk about something happening at a particular time in the future.

The action will have started before that moment but it will not have finished at that moment.

For example:

Starting from day one, I will be exercising the virtues of honesty and integrity in all my endeavors and will be thinking about making my future goals a reality.

From the outset, I will be focusing on academics while developing friendships both in the classroom and during extracurricular activities.

Linking Words (Discourse Markers)

You use words or phrases to organize ideas in a piece of writing.

Discourse markers show how ideas are connected. They usually come at the beginning of a sentence.

Discourse markers can show a connection to what the writer is saying and what was just written. They can also show what the writer's opinion is about what is being discussed.

Example:

Furthermore, I will always be held accountable for my words and actions.

Also, Instead of taking for granted those who have helped me get to this point in my life, I will give back to my friends, family and community.

Here are some more examples below:

Learning Points

Discourse Marker	Meaning
However	But; Contrast
Therefore	Logical consequence
In spite of	Emphasizing a contrast
What is more	Adding

Examples:

- If a person in authority explains their viewpoint, I will respect their position.
- Finally, I believe that if I work hard and believe in myself, the world will open its doors.

